President in Telling House Leaders to Speed Up Legislation Outlines Ideas

TELEGRAM TO HANNA

Tells Campaign Manager in North Dakota He Will Act To Secure Some Relief

Washington, Mar. 22.—(By the A. P.)—The ability of Congress to dispose of its most urgent work in time to adjourn for the June conventions rests largely with the Senate, in the opinion of Republican House leaders who conferred last night with President Coolidge. The executive plans to hold a similar conference shortly with party chiefs in the Senate and the House leaders expressed confidence that Congress would be able to complete its program, including tax revision, before the conventions.

The President, who earlier had sent a message to former Governor Hanna of North Dakota, manager of his campaign in that state, in which he promised "to advocate legislation, use all the administration forces of the government and organized private enterprise to give sound economic relief where it is needed," impressed upon his guests last night his desire for enactment of some form of farm relief legislation. He is understood, however, to have made no specific recommendation as to the form of such relief.

Representative Longworth, the Republican floor leader, outlined the program worked out in the last few days with a view to expediting pending measures and the legislative situation was discussed generally. Work will be speeded up, the President was told, on the regular appropriation bills, the Johnson immigration measure and the child labor amendment with action also planned on readjustment of postal salaries.

The telegram Mr. Coolidge's telegram said: "Your telegram announcing the result in North Dakota is to me much more than personal satisfaction. It contains a continuing faith of the American people in their government and a determination to support what I believe are sound and wholesome policies of administration. I wish to assure you as energetic as you have taken a courageous stand in the defense of the principles which I am attempting to uphold that I intend to execute the law for the protection of every public interest. "I intend to advocate legislation, use all the administration forces of the government and organize private enterprise to give sound economic relief where it is needed. It is an encouraging sign to find that the people wish to support that kind of action. I am exceedingly grateful to you for your active and energetic leadership. I wish you would transmit my deep appreciation to all those who were associated with you."

COW TESTING BODY GROWING, REPORTS SHOW

Enthusiastic meeting of Members Is Held in Bismarck Yesterday

HERDS ARE IMPROVED

An enthusiastic meeting of the Burleigh County Cow Testing Association was held yesterday afternoon at the Association of Commerce rooms, and plans were discussed for enlarging the circuit. Report were made showing value obtained from the circuit by members.

L. J. Garske, explaining one of the benefits of the circuit, said that he sold four young head of stock and got good prices for them the prices they should bring. However, he said, if he had not tested them and found out their production he would have judged the cows worth about half what they sold for. He cited as one of the benefits of the circuit, the fact that it lets the owner of cows know just what his animals are worth.

The association officers plan to increase the membership of the circuit from 16 to 24. They also will hold a picnic, the latter part of May or first part of June. Two members, Frank Spinkowski and Ernest S. Sille, drove from Bradlock for the meeting.

Prof. A. M. Chaffey of the extension department of the Agricultural College addresses the circuit members. Dan McDonald, vice-president, presided. Prof. Chaffey spoke on methods and secured the members of close cooperation of the A. C. departments. The Burleigh county circuit is one of the few successful ones in the state, he said. One plan agreed on for increasing interest in the circuit is the issuance of a monthly news letter. Mr. Strong in charge of the prison herd being named editor.

A resolution was passed urging the board of administration to discontinue the sale of cream and dairy products in downtown markets in competition to the farmers' test herds. The circuit said, the price is thus forced down. The resolution recited that the prime purpose of the dairy herd was to furnish butter, cream and milk for the prison and officials there. The farmers, the circuit said, would not have one.

FLOOD STAGE IS HELD UNLIKELY WHEN MISSOURI RIVER BREAKS UP

Pierre, S. D., and shows signs of breaking up at Chamberlain, S. D. The average date of the ice going out is April 1, according to the weather bureau records. Last year the ice held on until April 9, when it went out without causing any damage to speak of in North Dakota, although there were floods farther south in South Dakota. The earliest date of breaking up is March 1. Because of the big bend just south of Bismarck, where Sibley Island is, there is always the possibility of ice piling up and bringing flood conditions. However, the longer the break-up is postponed the softer the ice gets and the less danger there is of a flood.

MURPHY BEATS PERRY OUT FOR DEM POSITION

Virtual Complete Unofficial Returns Give Him Majority Over Perry

AN IMPORTANT RACE

Bearing on Democratic Factional Scrap Is Held Important in That Party

Fargo, Mar. 22.—(By the A. P.)—R. B. Murphy, of Bismarck, emerged a close victor over his opponent, H. H. Perry of Ellendale in the race for Democratic national committeeman on the basis of unofficial returns tabulated at tabulation headquarters of the Associated Press.

A total unofficial vote with 2,052 precincts out of the state's 2,638 reported gave Murphy 6,576, Perry 6,277, or a margin of 299 votes for Murphy.

The remaining precincts are very small and are not believed to have more than 50 votes at the maximum.

The outcome of the contest has an especial significance to the state as it gives the Democratic faction headed by James P. Campbell of Mandan the endorsement over that led by Gaius S. Woolledge of Minot.

COOLIDGE PLURALITY LARGE

President Coolidge's plurality over Senator Robert M. La Follette in the North Dakota presidential primary held up remarkably well in belated rural returns, almost complete tabulations showed.

When one-half of the vote was reported the President's lead over La Follette was 16,733 and with more than 85 percent of the vote in his lead still was 13,487. The last fifty percent of the vote reported was almost wholly rural, much of it from northwestern parts of the state. The decrease in the President's plurality in this section was less than North Dakota politicians normally expect for anti-Nonpartisan league candidates, and the final plurality of the president of over 10,000 is double that generally predicted. The later vote tabulations show surprising strength for the President. Both La Follette and Johnson failed to make gains in the late rural vote expected for them.

WOOLLEDGE STATEMENT

Minot, Mar. 22.—In connection with the election of R. B. Murphy of Bismarck as Democratic national committeeman the following statement was made by G. S. Woolledge of Minot, chairman of the state central committee, who called a convention in Minot in February at which time H. H. Perry was endorsed as a candidate.

"On the face of the unofficial returns it appears that Mr. R. B. Murphy has been elected Democratic national committeeman. The official canvass might change the result but this is unlikely unless substantial mistakes have been made in the tabulations. The closeness of the fight shows almost an equal division of sentiment on the issues involved among the Democrats who voted at the election and as the Democrats who did not vote have no right to complain of the result all of us who did vote and who believe in majority rule must accept the result in good spirit and now pull together to put North Dakota in the Democratic column in November.

"Both Mr. Murphy and Mr. Perry are to be congratulated on the splendid vote they received. From such returns as I have seen the places for electors and delegates will be filled by candidates from opposing factions and W. G. McAdoo is assured a solid delegation from North Dakota to the New York convention who will stick with him to a finish."

Return From Field Trip

Sup. G. B. Newcomb of the Humane Society for the Friendless has returned from Elgin, where he went to look after the welfare of a neglected boy.

FIRE AT HAZELTON

Hazleton, N. D., March 22.—Five or six hundred dollars damage was done to the office and engine room at the Victoria elevator Wednesday by fire. Just after dinner smoke was discovered coming through the roof of the office building and the alarm was immediately turned in. A large crowd gathered in a short space of time and soon had the fire under control, although the office and engine room were badly gutted and it is probable that the entire structure will have to be rebuilt, as the fire seemed to have burned up between the walls and the sheeting is almost completely burned in two.

"No father or mother need fear that their sons militarism, for it is a fact that officers of the army of the United States are more opposed to war and militarism than any body of men in this country.

Hostesses and campfires of the army are on duty at all of the camps and the opportunity is afforded every young man to attend the religious service of his choice.

Great School

"These camps form the greatest school of true, clean-cut Americanism that has ever been maintained in this country. Even Dr. Frank Crane, the most sincere and out-spoken pacifist of the present day, has put the stamp of his unqualified endorsement on the Citizens Military Training Camps in an article which has received the widest circulation in the press of this country.

"Young men, here is a golden opportunity for a wonderful month of pleasure and profit at no expense to you or your parents for the United States government pays for your rail fare to and from the camps, for your food, shelter, uniforms, laundry and medical and dental attendance while at the camps.

New Secretary's Romance Began In Jamestown

Jamestown, N. D., March 22.—A high school romance begun at Jamestown while the principals were attending school here eventually culminated in the nuptials which made Miss Olive Doolittle of St. Paul the wife of Curtis D. Wilbur of Los Angeles Cal., who was recently appointed the new secretary of the navy.

The acquaintance began at Jamestown when Mr. Wilbur and Miss Doolittle were reunited as they attended a Christian Endeavor convention at New York City. Mr. Wilbur as a delegate from Los Angeles, and Miss Doolittle from St. Paul. The thread of romance was picked up and soon the renewed friendship resulted in the marriage of the former Jamestown school-mates.

The story is told in a recent press interview by Charles Doolittle of Minneapolis, brother of Mrs. Wilbur. Mr. Wilbur for a time lived here with his parents, and Miss Doolittle was a guest here at the home of an other brother.

FARGO MEETS GRAND FORKS IN LAST GAME

Will Clash Tonight at Valley City for State High School Basketball Title

MANDAN IS DEFEATED

Eliminated by Fargo Team Which Also Eliminated Valley City in Contest

Valley City, N. D., Mar. 22.—Fargo high school's "Midgits" and Grand Forks high school stars will meet tonight in the final game of the North Dakota state high school basketball tournament. The Fargo team, on the basis of past showing, is "depicted" to win the state high school title for the third consecutive year.

Fargo won her way to the final this morning by defeating the Mandan high school team by a score of 34 to 15. The Mandan team fought desperately, but could not stem the tide of Fargo's accurate basket shooting.

Grand Forks in the other game this morning, defeated Devils Lake high by a score of 19 to 11.

Large crowds witnessed the contests, which were played in the State Teachers' college gymnasium. The first game yesterday eliminated Dickinson, Berthold, Kenmare and Valley City.

Fargo and Valley City were hooked up in a contest last night. The two were counted the strongest teams in the tournament, and they put up a battle royal. Fargo pulled out a victory by a score of 18 to 10. The first half ended 8 to 4 in Fargo's favor. It was a defensive contest throughout, the score being unusually low for these two teams. Fargo's guards did great work.

Devils Lake eliminated Berthold by a score of 23 to 11.

Mandan took her first game from Kenmare last night by a score of 14 to 7. The first half ended 5 to 1, in Mandan's favor. Kenmare played fairly, but was out of sync in the last half. Burdick and Love started for Mandan in this contest. Love making six field goals and Burdick one.

Dickinson was eliminated by Grand Forks, 11 to 11. It was a hard game for Dickinson to lose. The score was close at all times. This game, like many other tournament contests, was a defensive game, the five-man defense being much used. Forkers and Rabe did the best work for Dickinson. The first half ended with the score tied.

RAICH AFFAIRS ARE PROBED

Involuntary Petition in Bankruptcy Filed

Business affairs of Sam Raich, widely known in Ashley, with headquarters in Chicago, and commercial interests in Ashley, Venturia, Elgin, Mott, Napoleon, North Dakota, and McLaughlin and Hommer, South Dakota, are being probed in a hearing being conducted in the United States Court Room by Benton Baker, referee in bankruptcy. The case arose after a petition in involuntary bankruptcy had been filed against Raich in federal court at Fargo.

Raich filed schedules of assets totaling about $150,000 and liabilities about the same amount.

Baker asked for a stay of adjudication pending a meeting of creditors with a view of making an offer of 40 per cent cash as a basis for composition of claims.

Many attorneys are participating in the examination of the affairs of Raich. They include Kay and Walter Friesner of St. Paul representing D. Sunman, Company opposing the proposed settlement. John Gilchrist of St. Paul, I. K. Murray of Mott and Hugo Remington representing the creditors. Martin Kohner of St. Paul representing the petitioning creditors. The petition in involuntary bankruptcy was made by the Memphis Manufacturing Company, the Alisa Hat Company and the Mirviss Company, all of Minneapolis, their claims aggregating about $2,200.

MISS STINSON TALKS

Charges "Frame Up" in Admitting Charges Made by Attorney-General

Washington, Mar. 22.—(By the A. P.)—Harry F. Sinclair, who he testified before the oil committee today on the ground that any evidence he may possess should be reserved for the courts.

In a statement made after the committee had refused unanimously to concede his plea against the Daugherty trial in making charges of black-mail against her in his recent statement.

Miss Stinson was heard today during Sen. Wheeler's statement. Former Senate Chamberlain of Daugherty's, complained that she and her husband had been allowed to cross-examine witnesses, particularly Miss Stinson and Gaston B. Means.

"Miss Stinson is here, you have heard her testify today, and Senator Wheeler," she has been asked—and the reason is that the Attorney General has charged her with black-mailing the Daugherty family."

ADMITTS CHARGE

Washington, Mar. 22.—By the A. P.—Harry F. Sinclair, who he testified before the oil committee today on the ground that any evidence he may possess should be reserved for the courts.

In a statement made after the committee had refused unanimously to concede his plea against the Daugherty trial in making charges of black-mail against her in his recent statement.

There is nothing, he continued, in any of the facts or circumstances of the leave of Teapot Dome which does or can incriminate.

The statement then recapitulated the operators' previous appearance before Senate committees regarding the lease and added "thus it appears that I have been before your committee at five different sessions and answered all questions and produced all papers and books called for and was finally excused."

Referred to Resolution

Sinclair called attention to the fact that the resolution authorizing the investigation in the oil lease case had been passed by the Senate since his last appearance. The resolution effect denounces the lease between the government and Mammoth Oil Company on the ground of fraud and corruption.

"This is an assertion that under the 'rights and equities' of the United States the land covered by the Teapot Dome lease belongs to the government."

Events in connection with appointment of special government counsel to proceed with lease litigation were reviewed in the statement which he referred to the fact that the evidence is to be presented before a special grand jury here.

ACTION COMES ON REFUSAL TO GIVE ANSWERS

Oil Inquiry Body Takes Last Recourse, Asking Senate To Hold Him in Contempt

ON COUNSEL'S ADVICE

Oil Magnate Declines to Give Further Testimony Before Walsh Probers

Washington, Mar. 22.—By the A. P.—After failing finally to induce Harry F. Sinclair to testify before the oil committee today received from William H. Hays a flat denial of the story that Sinclair had contributed a large block of oil stocks to wipe out the deficit in the Republican party treasury after the 1920 campaign.

Sinclair refused to testify after the committee had voted unanimously to overrule the objections of his attorneys. Despite the committee's position, he said, he must reserve whatever evidence he had for the courts. The committee's only recourse now is to certify him to the Senate.

Hays followed the oil operator immediately on the witness stand.

"Do you know the witness who just left the stand?" asked Senator Walsh, the committee prosecutor.

"Yes, sir, for eight or 10 years," Hays replied.

"It has been testified to before another committee," went on Senator Walsh, "that Mr. Sinclair gave certain stocks to wipe out a deficit of the Republican national committee. Tell us about it."

I can't tell you about it, returned Hays. "It is not true."

You saw a statement in the New York Times that you would testify to such a donation?

Yes, but that story is untrue; it is false.

Hays said he had no idea as to the source of the Times' statement. "Would it surprise you to know that information came from your office?" asked Senator Walsh.

"It could not have come from there because it is not a fact."

WAHLBERG LOCATED

Havana, Mar. 22.—G. D. Wahlberg for whom a subpoena has been issued by the Senate Teapot Dome investigating committee in Washington is in Havana. It was learned today that he left a request at his hotel for the names of all callers he answered in advance, but he was not at the hotel when newspapermen came to see him.

The later vote tabulations show surprising strength for the President. Both LaFollette and Johnson failed to make gains in the late rural vote expected for them.

WOOLLEDGE STATEMENT

Minot, Mar. 22.—In connection with the election of R. B. Murphy of Bismarck as Democratic national committeeman the following statement was made by G. S. Woolledge of Minot, chairman of the state central committee, who called a convention in Minot in February at which time H. H. Perry was endorsed as a candidate.

"On the face of the unofficial returns it appears that Mr. R. B. Murphy has been elected Democratic national committeeman. The official canvass might change the result but this is unlikely unless substantial mistakes have been made in the tabulations. The closeness of the fight shows almost an equal division of sentiment on the issues involved among the Democrats who voted at the election and as the Democrats who did not vote have no right to complain of the result all of us who did vote and who believe in majority rule must accept the result in good spirit and now pull together to put North Dakota in the Democratic column in November.

"Both Mr. Murphy and Mr. Perry are to be congratulated on the splendid vote they received. From such returns as I have seen the places for electors and delegates will be filled by candidates from opposing factions by fire, and now pull together to put North Dakota in the Democratic column in November.

FIRE AT HAZELTON

Hazleton, N. D., March 22.—Five or six hundred dollars damage was done to the office and engine room at the Victoria elevator Wednesday by fire. Just after dinner smoke was discovered coming through the roof of the office building and the alarm was immediately turned in. A large crowd gathered in a short space of time and soon had the fire under control, although the office and engine room were badly gutted and it is probable that the entire structure will have to be rebuilt, as the fire seemed to have burned up between the walls and the sheeting is almost completely burned in two.

CIVILIANS TO GET CHANCE AT U. S. ARMY CAMP

Great School Offered For Young Men from 17 to 24. Says Bulletin

SCHOOLS IN AUGUST

Omaha, Neb., March 22.—The United States government will conduct three citizens military training camps in the Seventh Corps Area from August 1 to 30, 1924, says a U. S. Army Bulletin which continues:

"All young men between the ages of 17 and 24 are eligible to attend these camps.

"Only men of the highest moral character will be accepted.

"While these camps are called citizens military training camps, the military feature is not by any means the chief end sought but is simply a means to an end.

"The object of the camps is to bring together young men from all parts of the country on a common basis of equality, and by outdoor life and military training combined to develop expert athletic coaching, to develop expert physical, mentally and morally and by teaching them sound American principles make them better to realize their obligations to their country.

"No father or mother need fear that an attempt will be made to limit their sons' militarism, for it is a fact that officers of the army of the United States are more opposed to war and militarism than any body of men in this country.

"While at the camps the morals of the young men are guarded to the limit of human possibility. Clean, wholesome, healthy amusements and sports are provided. Hostesses and chaplains of the army are on duty at all of the camps and the opportunity is afforded every young man to attend the religious service of his choice.

Great School

"These camps form the greatest school of true, clean-cut Americanism that has ever been maintained in this country. Even Dr. Frank Crane, the most sincere and outspoken pacifist of the present day, has put the stamp of his unqualified indorsement on the Citizens Military Training Camps in an article which has received the widest circulation in the press of this country.

"Young men, here is a golden opportunity for a wonderful month of pleasure and profit at no expense to you or your parents—for the United States government pays for your rail fare and from the camps, for your food, shelter, uniforms, laundry and medical and dental attendance while at the camps.

"Fathers and mothers, having the best interests of their boys at heart, will see that they attend one of these camps during this coming August and when the boy comes home they will be astounded at his mental, moral and physical improvement.

"For full information write to the Citizens Military Training Camps Office, Omaha, Nebraska.

New Secretary's Romance Began In Jamestown

Jamestown, N. D., March 22.—A high school secretary, who was attending school here eventually culminated in the nuptials which made Miss Olive Doolittle of St. Paul the wife of Curtis D. Wilbur of Los Angeles Cal., who was recently appointed the new secretary of the city.

The acquaintance begun at Jamestown was renewed when Mr. Wilbur and Miss Doolittle were reunited as they attended a Christian Endeavor convention at New York City. Mr. Wilbur as a delegate from Los Angeles, and Miss Doolittle from St. Paul. The thread of romance was picked up and soon the renewed friendship resulted in the marriage of the former Jamestown schoolmates.

The story is told in a recent press interview by Charles Doolittle of Minneapolis, brother of Mrs. Wilbur. Mr. Wilbur for a time lived here with his parents, and Miss Doolittle was a guest here at the home of another brother.

FARGO MEETS GRAND FORKS IN LAST GAME

Will Clash Tonight at Valley City for State High School Basketball Title

MANDAN IS DEFEATED

Eliminated by Fargo Team Which Also Eliminated Valley City in Contest

Valley City, N. D., Mar. 22.—Fargo high school's "Biggets" and Grand Forks high school stars will meet tonight in the final game of the North Dakota state high school basketball tournament. The Fargo team, on the basis of past showing, is "doped" to win the state high school title for the third consecutive year.

Fargo won her way to the final this morning by defeating the Mandan high school team by a score of 34 to 15. The Mandan team fought desperately, but could not stem the tide of Fargo's accurate basket shooting.

Grand Forks in the other game this morning, defeated Devils Lake high by a score of 19 to 11.

Large crowds witnessed the contests, which were played in the State Teachers' College gymnasium.

The first games yesterday eliminated Dickinson, Berthold, Kenmare and Valley City.

Fargo and Valley City were hooked up in a contest last night. The two were counted the strongest teams in the tournament, and they put up a battle royal. Fargo pulled out a victory by a score of 18 to 10. The first half ended 8 to 4 in Fargo's favor. It was a defensive contest throughout, the score being unusually low for these two teams. Fargo's guards did great work.

Devils Lake eliminated Berthold by a score of 23 to 11.

Mandan took her first game from Kenmare last night by a score of 14 to 7. The first half ended, 5 to 1, in Mandan's favor. Kenmare played Mandan on even terms in the last half. Burdick and Love starred for Mandan in this contest. Love making six field goals and Burdick one.

Dickinson was eliminated by Grand Forks, 11 to 11. It was a hard game for Dickinson to lose. The score was close at all times. Kenmare, like many other tournament contests, was a defensive game, the five-man defense being much used. Forkers and Rabe did the best work for Dickinson. The first half ended with the score tied.

RAICH AFFAIRS ARE PROBED

Involuntary Petition in Bankruptcy Filed

Business affairs of Sam Raich, widely known merchant, with headquarters in Ashley, and commercial interests in Ashley, Venturia, Elgin, Mott, Napoleon, North Dakota, and McLaughlin and Homer, South Dakota, are being probed in a hearing being conducted in the United States Court Room by Benton Baker, referee in bankruptcy. The case arose after a petition in involuntary bankruptcy had been filed against Raich in federal court at Fargo.

Raich filed schedules of assets totaling about $150,000 and liabilities about the same amount. Raich asked for a stay of adjudication pending a meeting of creditors with a view of making an offer of 40 per cent cash as a basis for composition of claims.

Many attorneys are participating in the examination of the affairs of Raich. The inclusion of Todd and Walter Fosness of St. Paul, representing D. Sommers Company, opposing the proposed settlement; John Galbraith of St. Paul, J. K. Murray of Mott and Hugh Remington, representing the defendant; Martin Kohner of St. Paul, representing the petitioning creditors. The petition in involuntary bankruptcy was made by the Mirviss Manufacturing Company, the Also Hat Company and the Mirviss Company, all of Minneapolis, their claims aggregating about $2,200.

DAUGHERTY'S LAWYER HITS AT COMMITTEE

Declare Right to Cross-Examine Witnesses Is Denied Them By Probers

MISS STINSON TALKS

Charges "Frame Up" in Admitting Charges Made by Attorney-General

Washington, Mar. 22.—(By the A. P.)—Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of Jess W. Smith, "bunker and friend" of Attorney-General Daugherty, resumed the witness stand today before the Daugherty investigating committee and brought her letters to support her story of last week.

Before Miss Stinson began, Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, in charge of the inquiry declared Mr. Daugherty had done "a dirty, cowardly trick" in making charges of blackmail against her in his recent statement.

Miss Stinson's eyes poured tears during Sen. Wheeler's statement.

Former Senator Chamberlain of counsel for Daugherty, complained that counsel had not been allowed to cross-examine witnesses, particularly Roxie Stinson and Gaston B. Means.

"Miss Stinson is here, you have your opportunity today," said Senator Wheeler. "She has been sick—and the reason is that the Attorney-General has stooped to the unmanly and indecent thing of attacking her character."

Senator Chamberlain protested the Attorney-General was being placed in an unfair position.

ADMITTS CHARGE

Washington, Mar. 22.—(By the A. P.)—Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of the late Jess W. Smith, today told the Daugherty investigating committee her version of the affair in a Cleveland hotel in which the Attorney-General charged she was registered with A. L. Fink of Buffalo, N. Y., as man and wife and had attempted to blackmail him (the Attorney-General) for $150,000.

Miss Stinson's reply to the Attorney-General's charge in that regard was that it was "a frame-up."

Her version was that she went to Cleveland to meet Fink to "talk over a big deal" and had him to dinner in her room.

There, she said, Fink told her he had registered them "under a fictitious name." Miss Stinson said she was incensed when she learned of it. Later she said Fink came and told her they both were under arrest for "registering under fictitious names" and they were "headed for the bars unless she promised to say nothing damaging to Harry Daugherty."

ACTION COMES ON REFUSAL TO GIVE ANSWERS

Oil Inquiry Body Takes Last Recourse, Asking Senate To Hold Him in Contempt

ON COUNSEL'S ADVICE

Oil Magnate Declines to Give Further Testimony Before Walsh Probers

Washington, Mar. 22.—By unanimous vote the oil committee voted today to certify Harry F. Sinclair to the Senate for contempt as a result of his refusal to testify further before the committee.

Hays Denies Loan

Washington, March 22.—(By the A. P.)—After failing finally to induce Harry F. Sinclair to testify before the oil committee today received from William H. Hays a flat denial of the story that Sinclair had contributed a large block of oil stocks to wipe out the deficit in the Republican party treasury after the 1920 campaign.

Sinclair refused to testify after the committee had voted unanimously to overrule the objections of his attorneys.

Despite the committee's position, he said, he must reserve what evidence he had for the courts. The committee's only recourse now is to certify him to the Senate.

Hays followed the oil operator immediately on the witness stand.

"Do you know the witness who just left the stand?" asked Senator Walsh, the committee prosecutor.

"Yes, sir, for eight or 10 years," Hays replied.

"It has been testified to before another committee," went on Senator Walsh, "that Mr. Sinclair gave certain stocks to wipe out a deficit of the Republican national committee. Tell us about it."

"I can't tell you about it," returned Hays. "It is not true."

"You saw a statement in the New York Times that you would testify to such a donation?"

"Yes, but that story is untrue; it is false."

Hays said he had no idea as to the source of the Times statement.

"Would it surprise you to know that information came from your office?" asked Senator Walsh.

"It could not have come from there because it is not a fact."

WAHLBERG LOCATED

Havana, Mar. 22.—G. D. Wahlberg, for whom a subpoena has been issued by the Senate Teapot Dome investigating committee in Washington, is in Havana, it was learned today. He left a request at his hotel that the names of all callers be announced in advance, but he was not at the hotel today when newspapermen called to see him.

Washington, Mar. 22.—(By the A. P.)—Harry F. Sinclair, who holds the lease to Teapot Dome, refused to testify before the oil committee today on the ground that any evidence he may possess should be reserved for the courts.

In a statement made after the committee had refused unanimously to concede his plea against the authority of the investigators he declared that he did not care to plead not because his replies might tend to incriminate him as there was nothing in the facts relating to the Teapot Dome lease that was incriminating.

"I shall reserve any evidence I may be able to give," Sinclair said to the committee, "for those courts to which you and your colleagues have deliberately referred all questions of which you had any jurisdiction and shall respectfully decline to answer any questions propounded by your committee."

"There is nothing," he continued, "in any of the facts or circumstances of the lease of Teapot Dome which does or can incriminate."

The statement then recapitulated the operator's previous appearance before Senate committees regarding the lease and added "thus it appears that I have been before your committee at five different sessions and answered all questions and produced all papers and books called for and was finally excused."

Refers To Resolution
Sinclair called attention to the fact that the resolution authorizing the prosecution in the oil lease case had been passed by the Senate since his last appearance. The resolution in effect denounces the lease between the government and Mammoth Oil Company on the ground of fraud and corruption.

"This is an assertion that under the 'rights and equity' of the United States law land covered by Teapot Dome lease belongs to the government."

Events in connection with appointment of special government counsel to proceed with lease litigation were reviewed in the statement which then referred to the fact that the evidence is to be presented before a special grand jury here.

Authority Exhausted
"It is perfectly clear, therefore, from the language of the resolution," Sinclair continued, "that your committee by reason of any constitution (Continued on page 8)

INCREASE IN N. P. BUSINESS IS EXPLAINED

During Past 38 Years Business of Railroads Has Increased 343 Per Cent

ROAD IS BUILDING

St. Paul, Mar. 22.—If any proof of the increased efficiency of the railroads were needed, it could be found in the fact that they carry three times as much freight as they did thirty years ago. A. M. Hart, assistant vice president of the Northern Pacific railway, declared Wednesday night in an address broadcast from radio station W.L.B. that the freight business carried by American railroads has increased 343 per cent. Mr. Hart said, "In other words, the roads are now carrying nearly four and one-half times as much freight as was carried in 1890. In the same period the number of miles of railroad has increased only a little over 50 per cent. In the same time the passenger business has increased to about double its former volume, in spite of the competition of the motor bus and the automobile."

Constant Improvements Made.
It has been possible to handle this tremendous increase in the volume of transportation offered, only through a process of constant improvement through a liberal scrapping of the out-of-date and a substitution of better and more modern facilities and methods. Northern Pacific main line grades have been reduced to such an extent that an engine can now pull twice the load that it could have handled in 1890. In the same period the engine itself has grown to three times its original size.

The result is that a modern engine now handles about six times the tonnage of the engine of 1890. These improvements have involved the almost complete rebuilding of a large percentage of the main lines, doubling the weight of rails, strengthening bridges, and virtually doubling the size of engine houses and turn-tables. They have also meant that it has been necessary to enlarge yards, to increase the length of passing tracks, and to improve and enlarge all other facilities.

Rates Reduced by Half.
From 1890 until 1917, the average freight charges gradually were reduced, until in the latter year they were only a little more than half the average charges of 1890. During this latter year the average charge on the Northern Pacific railroad for hauling a ton of freight one mile was less than three-quarters of a cent.

"Since 1917, on account of conditions brought about by the war, the average rates have increased, but on the Northern Pacific they are still lower than they were in 1890, and for the country as a whole they are only about 25 per cent higher.

"There are now a little more than twice the number of employees that there were in 1890. These employees receive, in total, a little more than six times as much compensation as was paid to the employees of 1890, which means that the average railroad employee's pay is now 2.8 times as much as it was in 1890. This certainly shows that they have shared very liberally in the upward tendency of American labor. In the face of this, freight transportation costs have increased only 25 per cent, and passenger costs less than 50 per cent."

Galveston, Tex., Mar. 22.—Adolpho De La Huerta, leader of the revolution against President Obregon of Mexico is at Frontera, preparing with other rebel leaders for a "more ruthless form of warfare," according to Adolpho Jimenez, rebel commander here. Denying reports that De La Huerta had left Mexico for Galveston, Jimenez said that the leader of the revolt was preparing a proclamation to the Mexican people declaring the purpose of his civilian and military followers to prosecute the conflict to a finish "regardless of sacrifice."

JOHN J. KARNS

By NEA Service

Kansas City, Mo., March 21.—He's reared a family of 12 children, paid for a home and bought a flivver on a salary that never exceeded $150 a month.

And he and his wife and all the kiddies have had—and still have—plenty to eat and good warm clothes. More than that, every one of the children is getting a good education.

Yet John J. Karns, Kansas City policeman, declares he and his family never have dropped to "European standards of living."

"I confess my salary hasn't always paid for it all. The children are a big help. They enjoy adding their savings to mine."

ing worship at 7:30. The pastor will speak to the "Younger members" of the congregation in the morning on "The Bricks That Spoiled The Building."

The new Director of Religious Education for the Baptists of North Dakota, Rev. C. H. Burrill, will speak in the morning and meet the leaders and teachers at the young people's hour in the evening for conference.

With spring officially here and with Easter so close, a fine opportunity is offered for beginning Sunday school attendance, not only by the children but by all. We meet at noon. There are classes for all.

The Thrifty Crusaders will meet at 6:30. Rev. Burrill will meet the young people and the teachers also at that time.

Rev. O. S. Jacobson, State Pastor, will present in the evening a lecture from slides. Those who saw the other slides presented by Rev. Jacobson will remember that they were good, as these promise to be. The subject will be, "We Can Finish It."

We find that children enjoy the prayer meeting after supper Wednesday evenings. They take part in all the exercises including prayer. Why not more in these meetings?

3 So that—the original lustrous body finish of the car is restored in all its beauty, without a damaging scratch or mar!

Oakland has revolutionized motor car body finishes by adopting and perfecting the application of a radically different substance—Duco.

It is a beautiful, durable, weather-proof coating, impervious alike to sun and wind, rain and snow, and the alkaline air of the desert.

How fitting that the True Blue Oakland—the car with so many advanced features—should be the first car to offer this remarkable finish!

This—in itself—is reason enough why you should see the True Blue Oakland before buying any new motor car, regardless of price.

WHEN DAKOTA MAIDS FIRST BOBBED HAIR

(Elgin, N. D. News)

When the Indians were at war with other tribes and a young brave warrior was killed, his wife would cut her hair off in the same style, as the young white ladies do now, only they did not go to the village barber to have the job done in style. They cut it off themselves, frequently with a butcher knife.

I was at a general store some time ago and met an old friend of mine—a Sioux Indian. We were conversing of matters that took place years ago, and two young ladies came into the store. They both had their hair bobbed to a fair-you-well.

My old friend looked at them and said: "Two young widows. Was their husbands killed in the big war?"

Into The Attic

Few youngsters today ever saw a horse-hair sofa. They wouldn't know what to do with a fire taper, carpet stretcher, or coal oil lamp. They couldn't braid rags into a rug, or wind yarn without tangling. But they know the how and why of typewriters, phonographs, telephones, automobiles; what happens when a push of the button gives light, or a kodak's flash fixes their image on paper.

Their education is as modern as the advertisements they see. They have no more use for the lamp and chimney of yesterday than you for the wick and tallow of the day before.

Advertisements induce such progress. They urge wide use that means improvement. They help you lift the out-of-date into the attic—rid you of the water buckets and soap kettles of slavery. They bring late improvements within your reach.

Read the advertisements regularly. Keep alert to the new.

WHEAT GOES DOWN AGAIN

Falls Considerable With Lack of Buying Pressure

Chicago, Mar. 22.—Influenced by a material advance in corn wheat scored an upturn today despite weakness during the first part of the Board of Trade session. Wheat closed firm 3-8 to 1-2 to 3-4 cents net higher, May $1.05 1-2 to $1.05 5-8 and July $1.05 3-4. Rallies which ensued brought a rather sudden ascent at the last.

Chicago, Mar. 22.—It took but little selling to make wheat prices decline today in early dealings. Demand was lacking and the downturn carried the market to within 18 cents of the lowest price reported of late. Favorable crop conditions in the Southwest remained the chief factor. Opening prices which ranged from unchanged figures to one-eighth to one-fourth cent off, May $1.04 7-8, $1.05 and July $1.05 1-8 were followed by a moderate setback all around.

MAKING IT HARD FOR BANK CROOKS

How the Nation's Bankers Are Banded Together in War on Crime—The Great Crook Trap and the Way It Works.

By JOHN OAKWOOD

The slick gentry who have been wont to walk into banks and mesmerize paying tellers into giving them good cash for worthless checks have recently become aware of the fact that their operations are daily growing more difficult. Crooks who have operated with apparent impunity for years have suddenly found themselves caught in the meshes of what amounts to a nation-wide crook trap.

To show how effectively this is now working, one of the biggest figures among the worthless check operators, a man who claims to have defrauded dozens of banks and realized more than $300,000 from his operations, recently fell into the toils of the trap. Realizing that he was hopelessly caught, he made a complete confession.

This trap is conducted by the Protective Department of the American Bankers Association, which includes in its membership more than 22,000 banks that are thus leagued in a perpetual warfare against the army of bank crooks scattered throughout the nation.

A dramatic arrest of the workings of the association's detective department was recently staged in Buffalo, N. Y., resulting in the sudden downfall of a pair of check swindlers and terminating a year's successful operations in some fifteen cities in various sections of the country.

The pair began their operations in Buffalo in the middle of January, one of them appearing at the special savings account window of a bank there. He presented a counter check on the bank for $75.00, together with a deposit slip filled in for $20.00. He also presented a second deposit slip for $3, professing with it $3 in currency. He told the teller that he wanted to deposit the two items, that is, $3 in cash and $20.00 out of the check to the credit of his wife, explaining that he had forgotten to bring her book, but would return with it later. His cash and the check were accepted, totaling $78.00. From this sum his wife's supposed account was credited with $28.00, the total of the two deposit slips, and he was given $55 cash in change.

After the man left the bank the teller became suspicious due to his prolonged failure to return as he had promised with his wife's deposit book. On investigation the check he had left was found to be worthless. The bank communicated with the local detective office of the association, giving a complete description of the man.

The Alarm Is Given
Later that same day the detective office received another report from a second bank that it had been similarly defrauded by a man answering the description given by the first bank. Steps were at once taken to set a trap for him should he attempt further operations. All surrounding banks were warned that he was in the vicinity and a complete description was given them of his appearance and of his mode of operating. They were advised to have their tellers and guards on the lookout and to communicate at once by telephone with the detective office in case anyone appeared in their lobbies who seemed to answer to the description of the man wanted. They were also instructed to take steps to detain him in the bank.

Early the next afternoon the teller put a long line of questions covering all of the important matters on which he desired to interrogate him and the oil magnate declined to answer each "on the same grounds."

al power which it may possess or by virtue of the resolution under which it is acting is not now engaged nor could it be engaged in any investigation with particular reference to the protection of the rights and equities of the United States and the preservation of its natural resources because the Senate from which you derived your authority has unanimously passed upon all the questions embraced within that authorization and exhausted whatever power or authority it had in the premises.
Sinclair then said he claimed that the committee was "without any jurisdiction to question me further regarding the procurement of the lease or the validity thereof or any fact on any circumstances pertaining thereto."
If the examination should be directed toward "eliciting facts concerning fraud or corruption," the statement added, the committee would have constituted itself "a grand jury" on matters already submitted by the government to the constitutional authorities of the country.

Asks Navy Questions
When Sinclair had finished reading his statement Senator Walsh said he desired to ask him about the testimony of Frederick G. Bonfigli, publisher of the Denver Post. The operator conferred with his counsel, Martin W. Littleton, and then replied:
"I decline to answer on advice of counsel or the same grounds."
Senator Walsh asked about Sinclair's purchase from the Pioneer and Belgo Oil Companies of their claims in Teapot Dome and got the same answer. Then the prosecutor

HIS FAITH IN STATE GROWS

Beach Man Strong For North Dakota After Visit South

Beach, N. D., March 22.—J. E. Perrell, who owns considerable land in this county, returned from Blytheville, Mo., Wednesday night, he having been away all winter doing some logging off his timber land down south. That Mr. Perrell tells the truth when he says he is glad to be back to this, the best of all countries he has seen, and he visited several southwestern states while away, is proved by the fact that he traded some of his Missouri land for a section and three-quarters near his farm in this county, and is going into diversified farming on a good round scale.

"Say, I took along with me some corn I raised here last year and surprised the folks down south," he said recently. "My corn beat anything they had down there, although that raised on my Missouri land went 90 bushels to the acre, but it could not hold a candle to the North Dakota corn in field value although my yield here was not near so large, and everybody was surprised that we could even raise corn up here. Many of my neighbors around here think they are in hard luck, but I can tell them they are better off by far than most of the farmers in those states I visited down south. And the last winter there went anything for headliness I ever experienced. The stories of your fine weather I read in the Advance made me think I had left a paradise, and when I got a chance to trade for Golden Valley land I wasted no time in making the deal.

I am convinced that with proper farming and diversifying the Golden Valley is as good as any place on earth," said Mr. Perrell with vigor, "and my advice to our farmers here is to stick it out if possible, for they will win in the end. They can't lose if they don't put all their eggs in one basket."

everybody was surprised that we could even raise corn up here.

Many of my neighbors around here think they are in hard luck, but I can tell them they are better off by far than most of the farmers in those states I visited down south. And the last winter there went anything for headliness I ever experienced. The stories of your fine weather I read in the Advance made me think I had left a paradise, and when I got a chance to trade for Golden Valley land I wasted no time in making the deal.

I am convinced that with proper farming and diversifying the Golden Valley is as good as any place on earth," said Mr. Perrell with vigor, "and my advice to our farmers here is to stick it out if possible, for they will win in the end. They can't lose if they don't put all their eggs in one basket."

MARKET NEWS

WHEAT GOES DOWN AGAIN

Falls Considerable With Lack of Buying Pressure

Chicago, Mar. 22.—Influenced by a material advance in corn wheat suffered an upturn today despite weakness during the first part of the Board of Trade session. Chicago, Mar. 22.—It took but little selling to make wheat prices decline today in early dealings. Demand was lacking and the downward turn carried the market to within 18 cents of the lowest price reported of late. Favorable crop conditions in the Southwest remained the chief factor. Opening prices which ranged from unchanged figures to one-eighth to one-fourth cent off. May $1.04 7-8 to $1.05 and July $1.06 1-8 were followed by a moderate setback all around.

MAKING IT HARD FOR BANK CROOKS

How the Nation's Bankers Are Banded Together in War on Crime—The Great Crook Trap and the Way It Works.

By JOHN OAKWOOD

The slick gentry who have been wont to walk into banks and mesmerize paying tellers into giving them good cash for worthless checks have recently become aware of the fact that their operations are daily growing more difficult. Crooks who have operated with apparent impunity for years have suddenly found themselves caught in the meshes of what amounts to a nation-wide crook trap.

To show how effectively this is now working, one of the biggest figures among the worthless check operators, a man who claims to have defrauded dozens of banks and realized more than $300,000 from his operations, recently fell into the toils of the trap. Realizing that he was hopelessly caught, he made a complete confession.

This trap is conducted by the Protective Department of the American Bankers Association, which includes in its membership more than 22,000 banks that are thus leagued in a perpetual warfare against the army of bank crooks scattered throughout the nation.

A dramatic illustration of the workings of the association's detective department was recently staged in Buffalo, N. Y., resulting in the sudden downfall of a pair of check swindlers and terminating a year's successful operations in some fifteen cities in various sections of the country.

The pair began their operations in Buffalo in the middle of January. One of them appearing at the special savings account window of a bank there. He presented a counter check on the bank for $75.00, together with a deposit slip filled in for $20.60. He also presented a second deposit slip for $3, proffering with it $3 in currency. He told the teller that he wanted to deposit the two items, that is, $3 in cash and $20.60 out of the check to the credit of his wife, explaining that he had forgotten to bring her book, but would return with it later. His cash and the check were accepted, totaling $78.60. From this sum his wife's supposed account was credited with $23.60, the total of the two deposit slips, and he was given $55 cash in change.

After the man left the bank the teller became suspicious due to his prolonged failure to return as he had promised with his wife's deposit book. On investigation the check he had left was found to be worthless. The bank communicated with the local detective office of the association, giving a complete description of the man.

The Alarm Is Given
Later that same day the detective office received another report from a second bank that it had been similarly defrauded by a man answering the description given by the first bank. Steps were at once taken to set a trap for him should he attempt further operations. All surrounding banks were warned that he was in the vicinity and a complete description was given them of his appearance and of his mode of operating. They were advised to have their tellers and guards on the lookout and to communicate at once by telephone with the detective office in case anyone appeared in their lobbies who seemed to answer to the description of the man wanted. They were also instructed to take steps to detain him in the bank.

al power which it may possess or by virtue of the resolution under which it is acting is not now engaged nor could it be engaged in any investigation with particular reference to the protection of the rights and equities of the United States and the preservation of its natural resources because the Senate from which you derived your authority has unanimously passed upon all the questions embraced within that authorization and exhausted whatever power or authority it had in the premises.

Sinclair then said he claimed that the committee was "without any jurisdiction to question me further regarding the procurement of the lease or the validity thereof or any fact on any circumstances pertaining thereto."

If the examination should be directed toward "eliciting facts concerning fraud or corruption," the statement added, the committee would have constituted itself "a grand jury" on matters already submitted by the government to the constitutional authorities of the country.

Asks Navy Questions
When Sinclair had finished reading his statement Senator Welsh said he desired to ask him about the testimony of Frederick G. Bond, publisher of the Denver Post. The operator conferred with his counsel, Martin W. Littleton, and then replied: "I decline to answer on advice of counsel or the same grounds."

HIS FAITH IN STATE GROWS

Beach Man Strong For North Dakota After Visit South

Beach, N. D., March 22.—J. E. Percell, who owns considerable land in this county, returned from Blytheville, Mo., Wednesday night, he having been away all winter doing some logging off his timber land down south. That Mr. Percell tells the truth when he says he is glad to be back to this, the best of all countries he has seen, and he visited several southwestern states while away, is proved by the fact that he traded some of his Missouri land for a section and three-quarters near his farm in this county, and is going into diversified farming on a good round scale.

"Say, I took along with me some corn I raised here last year and surprised the folks down south," he said recently. "My corn beat anything they had down there, although that raised on my Missouri land went 90 bushels to the acre, but it could not hold a candle to the North Dakota corn in feed value, although my yield here was not near so large, and everybody was surprised that we could even raise corn up here. "Many of my neighbors around here think they are in hard luck, but I can tell them they are better off by far than most of the farmers in those states I visited down south. And the last winter there beat anything for beastliness I ever experienced. The stories of your fine weather I read in the Advance made me think I had left a paradise, and when I got a chance to trade for Golden Valley land I wasted no time in making the deal."

INCREASE IN N. P. BUSINESS IS EXPLAINED

During Past 38 Years Business of Railroads Has Increased 313 Per Cent

ROAD IS BUILDING

St. Paul, Mar. 22.—If any proof of the increased efficiency of the railroad was needed, it could be found in the fact that they carry three times as much freight as they did thirty years ago. A. M. Burr, assistant vice president of the Northern Pacific railroad, declared Wednesday night in an address broadcast from radio station WLAG.

During the past thirty-three years the freight business carried by American railroads has increased 313 per cent, Mr. Burr said. In other words, the roads are now carrying nearly four and one-half times as much freight as was carried in 1886. The same amount of freight is carried in a little over 50 per cent. In the same time the passenger business has increased to about double its former volume, in spite of the competition of the motor bus and the automobile.

Constant Improvements Made.

It has been possible to handle the tremendous increase in the volume of transportation offered, only through a constant improvement in the road through a liberal scrap system of replacing old and obsolete equipment with new and modern facilities and methods. Northern Pacific, he said, has been able to handle the increase in freight by doubling the length of its tracks, and to improve and enlarge all other facilities.

Rates Reduced by Half.

From 1886 until 1917, the average freight charges gradually were reduced, until in the latter year they were only a little more than half the average charges of 1886. During this latter part the average charge on the Northern Pacific railroad for hauling a ton of freight one mile was less than three-quarters of a cent.

Since 1917, on account of conditions brought about by the war, the average rates have increased, but not lower than they were in 1890, and for the country as a whole they are only about 25 per cent higher.

There are now a little more than twice the number of employees that there were in 1890. These employees receive, in total, a little more than six times as much compensation as was paid to the employees of 1890, which means that the average railroad employee pay is now 2.5 times as much as it was in 1890. This certainly shows that they have earned very liberally in the upward tendency of American labor. In the face of this, freight transportation costs have increased only 25 per cent, and passenger costs less than 50 per cent.

REBEL PARTY TO ENTER U. S.?

New Orleans, Mar. 22.—The gunboat Saragossa with Adolpho De La Huerta and other Mexican revolutionists on board is headed for Galveston, Texas. It was believed today in official Mexican circles. This was based on intercepted radio messages.

DENIES IT

Galveston, Tex., Mar. 22.—Adolpho De La Huerta, leader of the revolution against President Obregon of Mexico is at Frontier, preparing with other rebel leaders for a "more ruthless form of warfare," according to Adolpho Jimenez, rebel consul here. Denying reports that De La Huerta had left Mexico for Galveston, Jimenez said that the leader of the revolt was preparing a proclamation to the Mexican people denouncing the use of his civilian and military followers to prosecute the conflict to a finish "regardless of sacrifice."

Raised twelve children

Built a home

JOHN J. KARNS

By NEA Service

Kansas City, Mo., March 21.—He's reared a family of 12 children, paid for a home and bought a flivver on a salary that never exceeded $150 a month.

And he and his wife and all the kiddies have had—and still have—plenty to eat and good warm clothes. More than that, every one of the children is getting a good education. Yet John J. Karns, Kansas City policeman, declares he and his family never have dropped to "European standards of living."

"I confess my salary hasn't always paid for it all. The children are a big help. They enjoy adding their savings to mine."

ing worship at 7:30. The pastor will speak to the "Younger members" of the congregation in the morning on "The Bricks That Spoiled The Building."

The new Director of Religious Education for the Baptists of North Dakota, Rev. C. H. Burrill, will speak in the morning and meet the leaders and teachers at the young people's hour in the evening for conference.

With spring officially here and with Easter so close, a fine opportunity is offered for beginning Sunday school attendance, not only by the children but by all. We meet at noon. There are classes for all.

The Thrifty Crusaders will meet at 6:30. Rev. Burrill will meet the young people and the teachers also at that time.

Rev. O. S. Jacobson, State Pastor, will present in the evening a lecture from slides. Those who pay the other slides presented by Rev. Jacobson will remember that they were good, as these promise to be. The subject will be, "We Can Finish It."

We find that children enjoy the prayer meeting after supper Wednesday evenings. They take part in all the exercises including prayer. Why not more in these meetings?

Oakland's New Finish Makes This Possible

1 You can drive a True Blue Oakland Six through rain and mud for weeks, allow the spattered mud to remain on the finish—

2 And then—quickly and easily wipe off this dirt and mud with any kind of cloth, even without the use of soap, water or compounds—

3 So that—the original lustrous body finish of the car is restored in all its beauty, without a damaging scratch or mar!

Oakland has revolutionized motor car body finishes by adopting and perfecting the application of a radically different substance—Duco.

It is a beautiful, durable, weather-proof coating, impervious alike to sun and wind, rain and snow, and the alkaline air of the desert.

How fitting that the True Blue Oakland—the car with so many advanced features—should be the first car to offer this remarkable finish!

This—in itself—is reason enough why you should see the True Blue Oakland before buying any new motor car, regardless of price.

WHEN DAKOTA MAIDS FIRST BOBBED HAIR

(Elgin, N. D. News)

When the Indians were at war with other tribes and a young brave warrior was killed, his wife would cut her hair off in the same style, as the young white ladies do now, only they did not go to the village barber to have the job done in style. They cut it off themselves, frequently with a butcher knife.

I was at a general store some time ago and met an old friend of mine—a Sioux Indian. We were conversing of matters that took place years ago, and two young ladies came into the store. They both had their hair bobbed to a fair-you-well.

My old friend looked at them and said: "Two young willows. Was their husbands killed in the big war?"

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

PUSHING CONGRESS
President Coolidge has thus far shown a nice discrimination between the ideas of the "big stick" in compelling Congress to do the bidding of the White House and in using his influence where it may be desirable and necessary to crystallize opinion in the legislative branch. The President has on more than one occasion reaffirmed his allegiance to the constitutional respect demanded for the coordinate branches of the government—legislative, judicial and executive.

At the present time he is moving to accelerate legislation, which has been virtually suspended as a result of the numerous investigations being conducted in Congress, taking the time of members. He has not in a stentorian manner set out a program and demanded that Congress do his bidding; he has instead sought conferences with the leaders of the two branches during which plans may be discussed which the chief executive hopes will eventuate in constructive legislation.

The President, too, has not hesitated to make known frequently to Congress his views on various measures and to suggest that action be taken. He did this with respect to the Norbeck-Burnett bill for livestock loans and he has done it with other measures of importance to agriculture of the Northwest in which time is an important factor.

"ANOTHER CUP, PLEASE?"
Can Americans be induced to make tea their national drink instead of coffee? British tea exporters think there is a fighting chance. They will conduct a big advertising campaign in America.

The English use an average of nine pounds of tea a year apiece. In our country, less than a pound a year.

We are a nation of coffee drinkers, consuming more than 12 pounds of coffee a year for every man, woman and child. This is almost a half more than in 1914. What caused the increase? Prohibition, largely. Such is the generally accepted explanation.

A pound of coffee, properly percolated, and made "strong," yields 40 cups of beverage. The year's total is an average of 480 cups of strong coffee—more cups where the drink is weaker.

Even at that, we're not the greatest coffee-drinking nation. Sweden tops the list, Cuba second, America third. The Chinese drink less coffee than any other people, averaging a pound a year for every 100 people. Like the English, they are tea drinkers.

The American people spend over a million dollars a day for coffee. The milk and cream used in our coffee takes the entire yield of three million cows.

Coffee has been used as a beverage for more than 1000 years. Louis XIV is supposed to have drunk the first cup of it ever made in France. At that time, coffee sold for $29 a pound. The price may seem unbelievable now. There are teas, however, that cost even more. Sixty dollars a pound is what you'll have to pay for a pound of Bak Woon (White Cloud) tea from China. It tastes weak.

As the British develop their advertising campaign to induce Americans to drink more tea and less coffee, there'll be much discussion about the relative merits and injuriousness of the two.

The average pound of coffee contains 85 grains of caffeine. A cup of strong black coffee often has from two to five grains of caffeine. But, for that matter, there is opium in lettuce. Yes, and the equivalent of alcohol in candy and all other forms of sugar. And tea contains the powerful drug, theine, similar to caffeine.

In a general way, the English seem to get about the same effect from a cup of tea that Americans get from coffee. In excess, either one is harmful to the health of the average person. It's a matter of taste—and so far Americans have voted 12 to 1 for coffee and against tea. Will advertising shift that preference? That will be answered later.

T. B.
Tuberculosis costs the United States 500 million dollars a year, according to the Anti-Tuberculosis League. It arrives at this figure by estimating that each year of the average person's life is worth $100 in the form of national wealth. Thus a person, who dies five years prematurely, means a loss of $500 to national wealth.

Surely we are worth more than $100 a year apiece to the nation. But even that low figure means a loss of half a billion dollars a year. If men had even mild intelligence, they would stop fighting each other and concentrate on the common enemy, disease. The money spent on the World War would, devoted to scientific research and health measures, eliminate nearly every disease now known.

OUTLOOK GOOD

Pig iron production continued rising in February, it's announced. The output was nearly twice as big as February, 1922. This means that the steel industry expects lots of customers and heavy orders—which, in turn, means jobs.

Railroad freight traffic continues big for this time of year.

The banking situation is strong. Retail trade is a bit quiet in some lines, but indications are for a brisk spring pick-up. People have plenty of money and credit to keep things going in good shape. This is shown by the manufacture of 349,141 motor vehicles in February, a gain of more than a fourth over the previous February record, in 1923.

A Boston man asks divorce because she wouldn't fire the furnace. Her mistake was failing to keep him in hot water.

Chewing gum costs America $50,000,000 annually, which is a lot of money to stick under tables and chairs.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

WASHINGTON ISN'T A SINK OF INIQUITY

A very dangerous thing is going on in this country. The reckless admission of "testimony" that is largely gossip, and reckless partisan defamation together with careless reading and hasty judgment on the part of many people, are joining to paint in the public mind a picture of official life in Washington that is utterly false.

Not once, but many times, some such comment as this is heard: "Oh, I guess the whole mess down there is rotten!"

How far from the facts, even the published facts taken at their utmost worst, is the hasty conception thus carelessly uttered sentence reflects! Out of all official Washington, two men are accused. Nothing is proved against either. In the case of Mr. Fall, circumstances seem damning enough, but he is not convicted. In the case of Mr. Daugherty, the evidence seems very largely gossip out of very undependable sources. He may or may not be what a member of the president's cabinet ought to be, but there isn't against him at this moment any tangible proof that would induce a jury to convict a friendless vagrant.

There is such a thing as a sense of proportion, and it is folly to lose it. Nobody is happy about what is going on in Washington—except, perhaps, political shrews who hope somehow to extract political profit from it. It is clear that things have happened that never should have happened. It is the hope of good citizens that it will all be cleared up so that the guilty may be punished and the innocent freed of blame.

But official Washington—including congress—is, in the main, honest and devoted. It may seem stupid sometimes. It is all bound around with red tape. There is too much partisan politicking there to clutter up and delay and confuse and defeat public business.

But so far as financial dishonesty is concerned, there is very little of it. Probably, indeed, there never has been a time in the history of the country when there was so little of it.

There was a time, when the country was just learning to exploit its great natural resources, when the exploiters wanted favors of government and congress and Washington officials could give them when the country couldn't have stood a real investigation anywhere near as well as it can now. Great financial interests engaged in this exploitation were very close to political processes. There were no interstate commerce commissions and trade commissions and treasury officials to scrutinize their books, and liberal appropriations for "legal expenses" went unchecked and unchallenged. There was, no doubt, bribery in those days.

Today bribery is very rare indeed, either in national or state governments. Twenty years ago it was a commonplace in St. Paul. Today it is almost unknown.

Washington is NOT a rotten mess. There is evil there, as there is wherever men seek money they have not earned.

But there is good there, too, and a great deal more of it than one might expect who knows how casually the American people treat their political duties. — Duluth Tribune.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

All the Doofunny people were going to see the Humpty-Dumpty Circus and asked the Twins to go along. So off they went with Mister Fuzz Wuzz at half past 12, to get good seats.

The China Pig with a slot in his back took the pennies as they passed in, and by the time half of the Doofunny Landers were inside he was so full he couldn't move, and had to ask Sambo, the black boy in the side show, to help him.

Sambo had a long red tongue and when you put your penny on it, he rolled his eyes and opened his mouth wide and the penny rolled right down his throat.

Someone whispered that Sambo had been a bank before he went into the side show business, but I don't know whether it is true or not.

Anyway he, too, was so stuffed with money that Mister Fuzz Wuzz had to take a sewer driver and take off his head and then turn him up side down to let the money roll out.

As for the pig, he couldn't be unscrewed and there he was—not able to move a muscle.

"There is only one way to get any money out of him," said Mister Fuzz Wuzz, "and that's to break him into pieces."

"Oh, don't please!" begged the China Pig. "I had an uncle once who was broken into pieces, and although he was glued together again, he never was able to eat a full meal afterwards, and never, never, never could be washed."

"I shouldn't think a pig would care about that," laughed Nancy, but seeing the offended look in the pig's eyes she added hastily, "I'm sure we'll find another way, Mister Pig."

Well, sir, there it was—time for the show to begin and that pig holding up everything!

You'll never guess who came along in the nick of time and helped them out of their trouble! It was the Cut-Out family. Mr. and Mrs. Cut-Out and all the children.

"Why, that's the easiest thing in the world!" declared the Cut-Out gentleman. "I have a thin hand and I can get the pennies out for you."

BEAUTIFUL INDIAN TROPHIES SENT TO UNDERWOOD DRUGGIST

Garrison, N. D., March 22.—Sam Newman, Sr., of Ellsworth, was in town Saturday and showed us a bow and three arrows which were made by John Whittell of Armistead, and are an exact replica of the type used in early Indian warfare and for hunting purposes, with the exception of the bow-string, which is made of twisted cord in place of the deer sinew formerly used. A head dress made of porcupine hair and a deer tail, and strikingly beautiful, was also displayed by Mr. Newman. This head dress was worn by the warriors at war dances, and represents much hard work on the part of the maker.

Joe Evander, the Underwood Druggist, was to be the recipient of these fine specimens of Indian handicraft, which will be placed with Mr. Evander's collection of unique and curious articles of historic value.

XLIII (Continued)

But Clavering was also a man of swift decisions and resource, and he knew this was no time to lose his head, or even to play a waiting game. And he must tread warily. Impulsive as he was by nature he could be as wary as a Red Indian when wifeliness would serve his purpose. He called up Mr. Dinwiddie on the telephone and asked if he might see him at once. It was only half past nine and Mr. Dinwiddie was just finishing his breakfast in bed, but he told his favorite cordially to "come along."

XLIV

"What is it?" asked Mr. Dinwiddie, as Clavering entered his bedroom fifteen minutes later. "This is an early call. Thought you didn't get up till noon."

"Went to bed early last night for a change. I've come to ask a favor. I'll smoke, if you don't mind."

He took a chair beside the bed, where Mr. Dinwiddie, in skull cap and decorative pyjamas, leaned against high pillows, happily digesting his breakfast, with the newspapers beside him. Clavering smoked for a few moments in silence, while his host watched him keenly. He had never seen his young friend in quite this mood. There was a curious deadly stillness about him.

"What is it, Lee?" he asked when curiosity finally got the better of him. "Nothing wrong between you and Mary, I hope? Of course you know it's all over town that you're engaged to her. Don't mind my saying this, do you? And you know you can trust me. Nothing like an old gossip for keeping a confidence sacred."

"Well, I am. But she chooses not to announce it and that is her right. And here is where you can help me. I want you to open your camp in the Adirondacks and give Mary a house party. I suppose Larsing and his wife are still there?"

"Yes, but it's too early—"

"Spring is early this year. The ice must have gone out. And the house is always comfortable; we've often had fires there when people were having stroke in New York. I want you to get busy, so that we can leave tomorrow morning—"

"Tomorrow morning? You young dynamo. It can't be done."

"It can. I'll call up the people I want in a few minutes—from here. You can telephone to the"

"Ah! But I know! Mr. Dinwiddie's eyes glittered. 'Hohenhauser is here. That's the milk in the cocoanut.'" camp. Provisions can go tonight. I'll see to that also—"

"But can you get away yourself?"

"I'd get away if I had to resign, but I shan't. I shall break away for two months later anyhow. We have planned to marry in Austria in about a month from now."

"Then why in thunder do you want to run off to the woods with her now? I never heard of anything so unreasonable. She has friends here who'd like to see her until the last minute, you selfish young beggar—"

"It's the most reasonable thing I ever did. Don't insist upon an explanation, Din. Just accept my word that it's a vital matter to me."

"Ah! But I know! Mr. Dinwiddie's eyes glittered. 'Hohenhauser is here. That's the milk in the cocoanut.'"

Clavering scowled. "What do you mean by that?"

"I—I—well—there was a good deal of talk at the time—but then you know, Lee, I told you the very first time we both saw her that there had been stories about Mary."

"Well, as it happens, she told me about this man, although not his name. Enough, however, for me to know at once this morning who he was. I don't intend she shall see him."

"You don't mean to tell me that you are jealous of Hohenhauser. Why, that was nearly twenty years ago, and he is almost as old as I am."

"I'm not jealous, but I've got a hunch." He scowled again, for he fancied he could see that old story unrolling itself in Dinwiddie's mind. It is one thing to dismiss the past with a lordly gesture and another to see it rise from the dead and peer from old eyes. He went on calmly, however. "I've no faith, myself, in the making of bonfires out of dead ashes, but all the same I scent danger and I intend to get her away and keep her away until the day before she sails; and I'll marry her the morning she does. I'll take no chances of their travelling on the same steamer."

"I see. Perhaps you are right. He's a damn good-looking chap, too, and has that princely distinction peculiar to Austrians. Some European princes look like successful business-men of the Middle West. I was once stranded at Apbazia, Austria's Riviera, during a rainy spell, and as there were only two other people in the vast dining-room I thought I'd speak to them. I took for granted they were Americans. He was a big heavy man, with one of those large, round, fat, shrewd, weary faces you see by the hundreds in the lobbies of Chicago hotels. She looked like a New England schoolmarm, and wore a red plaid waist. Well—he was the reigning prince of Carlsbad-Rudolfstein, one of those two-by-six German principalities, and she was an Austrian archduchess. She was the only Austrian I ever saw that didn't look like one, but her manners were charming and we became great friends and they took me home with them to their beautiful old castle. . . . Ah, those wonderful old German castles! Profiteers living in them today, I suppose. But Hohenhauser is a perfect specimen of his class—and then some. I met him once in Paris. Intensely reserved, but opened up one night at a small dinner. I never met a more charming man in my life. And unquestionably one of the ablest men in Europe. . . . However, he's sixty and you're thirty-four. If he has any influence over her it's political, and in European politics one never knows what dark business is going on under the surface. Good idea to get Mary away. I'll get some fun out of it, too. Who'll you ask?"

"None of your crowd. How many bedrooms have you? I don't remember."

"Ten. If you want a large party you can turn in with me. There are twin beds in every room. I don't know how Mary'll like it; she's a luxurious creature, you know, and we don't go to the woods to be comfortable—"

"You forget she got pretty well used to worse while she was running that hospital. And hardy people never do mind."

"True. I'll give her a room to herself, for I don't see her doubling-up, at all events. That would have eight good-sized rooms. Don't ask all married couples, Lee, for heaven's sake. Let's have two girls at least. But the season is still on. Sure you can get anybody?"

"Of course. They're not all pined down to regular jobs, and we're only too glad to get out of New York after a grinding winter. The novelty of a house party in the mountains at this season will appeal to them. I'll call up Gora first."

He was crossing the room to the telephone when Mr. Dinwiddie scowled hesitatingly. "And so—you're really going to marry Mary? Have you thought what it means? I mean your own career. She'll never live here—she's out of the picture and knows it."

Clavering took down the receiver and called Miss Dwight's number. Mr. Dinwiddie sighed and shrugged his shoulders. But his eyes were bright. He would have a love drama under his very nose.

when the explosion blew the door shut behind him. Fire was scattered over the boiler room but was quickly extinguished by a chemical in the room. The platform of the set of scales nearby was lifted and nearly wrecked the building. Damage is estimated at $200. The boiler was standing on a concrete base six inches thick and the force sunk the concrete an inch and a half. The boiler tore sideways through the ceiling and went high over the windmill tower back of the old Record office.

Boiler Explodes At Carrington

Carrington, March 22.—Blowing out its bottom, the steam boiler in the plant of the cooperative cream station here shot like a sky rocket through the roof of the building. The boiler went a hundred or more feet into the air and then came down 200 feet away, a very short distance from the Methodist church.

No one was hurt in the unusual accident but J. W. Canfield, manager who lives in the adjoining rooms, was going through a door into his rooms used in early Indian warfare and for hunting purposes, with the exception of the bow-string, which is made of twisted cord in place of the deer sinew formerly used. A head dress made of porcupine hair and a deer tail, and strikingly beautiful, was also displayed by Mr. Newman. This head dress was worn by the warriors at war dances, and represents much hard work on the part of the maker.

Joe Evander, the Underwood Druggist, was to be the recipient of these fine specimens of Indian handicraft, which will be placed with Mr. Evander's collection of unique and curious articles of historic value.

War Mothers Complete Plans For Memorial

The Fort Lincoln Chapter of the American War Mothers, at their regular meeting last Tuesday afternoon, completed plans, as far as the local chapter is concerned, with regard to the placing of monuments at each end of the Bismarck-Mandan Memorial Bridge, one in honor of the returned soldiers and the other in memory of those who gave their lives in the World War.

Mrs. Robert Orr, chairman; Mrs. Kidd and Mrs. A. B. Welch, representing the Bismarck, Mandan and Cannonball chapters, composed the general committee. Mrs. D. McPhee and Mrs. W. H. Webb were appointed as a local committee to assist the chairman of the general committee in selecting the shape and location of the marker to be placed at the east end of the bridge; also to make the decision as to whether the inscription shall be made in bronze or carved on a smoothed surface of the native boulder, which is to be set in a cement or granite base. It is hoped to have the work completed before the State American Legion convention to be held in Mandan in June.

Prices have been obtained from dealers in Mandan and Bismarck, and the estimated cost will not exceed $500. The eleven chapters of War Mothers of the state, will each donate to this fund so that all War Mothers and all communities whose sons served in the World War will be recognized and can feel that they have a part in the erection of these markers. The local chapter will be pleased to welcome any War Mother in this vicinity as a member.

The Fort Lincoln Chapter has a fund in the treasury with which to meet the greatest part of its quota. However, the chapter is not relying wholly on that fund, but will continue to have it increased as the financial committee desires.

DELIGHTFUL DANCING PARTY
Sixty couples were present at the delightful Masonic-Eastern Star dancing party given at the Masonic temple last evening. Splendid music added to the pleasure of dancing. Miss Betty Lott, a very popular Irish monologue and Irish dance in costume, a solo dance, and she and Miss Bernice Joslin gave several dances in costume and were encored to which they responded with a pleasing number. The committee had provided a number of special dances and all reported a pleasant social evening.

Members of the Eastern Star provided angel food cake and ice cream for refreshments during the evening.

Splendid Program To Be Presented

Monday evening, March 24, arrangements have been made for the presentation of a splendid program in the assembly hall of the Bismarck high school. The program is to be a general one with a number of unique features.

The program is given primarily for the purpose of raising money for the piano fund. The school board is working diligently to curtail all expenses in line with the impending tax reductions. Another object of the program is to give the patrons a demonstration of the work done outside the regular curriculum work of the school. The glee clubs will appear for the first time this year on this program; the orchestra will play several selections; the Junior Playmakers will present a one-act comedy, "The Fever Ward," and the Physical Education classes will give a demonstration of their regular work. Several readings will be given by members of the student body.

The faculty and students of the high school feel that their entertainment should be patronized by the people of Bismarck, since road shows of a farcical nature take thousands of dollars out of Bismarck annually.

The entertainment was given at the state penitentiary last evening and was highly complimented.

Girls Glee Club Give Splendid Concert

The Girls Glee Club of the Jamez town college, gave a splendid program at the Presbyterian church last evening under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor society. Only a fair sized audience greeted the club on their appearance but the numbers were each excellently given.

Miss Louise Huber of this city, sang her second soprano solo parts exceptionally well and Miss Margaret Muncy, the first soprano soloist, had a beautiful voice and her numbers were greatly enjoyed.

Miss Muncy, the director, gave two readings in which she read of a little boy at the movies and again at Sunday school, which were humorous and entertaining.

The chorus consisted of 25 voices under the direction of Elizabeth Muncy and the group of southern songs in costume was very well given. The group of Indian songs by Cadmen was very pretty in the method of presentation. The tableau effect was charming and the voices splendid. Miss Huber sang Cadmen's "Sky Blue Water," as a solo number in this group.

The "Spinning Chorus" from Wagner's "The Flying Dutchman," was very pretty with the quaint Dutch costumes. This was one of the best numbers of the program.

The "Bridal Chorus" and DeKovana's "Recessional" were the closing numbers on the program and were undoubtedly the best of the chorus numbers.

The Glee Club went to the Penitentiary yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock and sang at the high school at 3:00 o'clock for the high school students.

The club left on the early train for Wilton this morning, where they will give a concert this evening and will sing at the churches in Wilton tomorrow.

CHERRY-RIPE

Cherry-ripe, ripe, ripe, I cry,
Full and fair ones; come and buy;
If so be you ask me where
They do grow, I answer, there,
Where my Julia's lips do smile,
There's the land, or cherry isle,
Whose plantations fully show
All the year where cherries grow.

LETTER FROM KARL WHITNEY TO LESLIE PRESCOTT

MY DEAR LESLIE:
I received notice from Struble & Struble this morning that you had returned six thousand dollars to my account. I am glad you got out of it so easily.

I want to take occasion now, my dear, to tell you it was very foolish of me to give you that string of pearls on your wedding day in such a secret manner.

At the time I looked upon the gift as something that belonged to you. You see I had been almost since I can remember (really from the time I was twelve years old), buying them for you, and I had intended to give them to you on your wedding day. You must know, however, that I thought when that time came it would be myself standing beside you at the altar.

When I found you were going to marry Mr. Prescott, my great desire was only to get rid of the pearls. I never wanted to see them again. I was afraid that if I explained to you or your mother all they had meant to me through these years, you would not accept them.

I told this to Alice and, she being just at the romantic age and her friend Bett Stockly trying to write a book, the two of them connected the plan which we carried into execution.

When I saw them on your throat at the altar I knew I had made a great mistake. I was sorry I had not told the absolute truth and I am sure they have given you many an unhappy hour, and I would not have made you unhappy for one minute of your life.

But now that it is all over, yes, Leslie, even my love for you has become just a tender memory and I know now that it was more of the adoration of a boy than the real love of a lifetime.

For Alice, I have asked your sister Leslie to be my wife and she has told me shyly that she has always loved me even as a little girl and that it almost broke her heart.

REMAKING OF MEN IN STATE HELD SUCCESS

Occupations Destroyed by Injuries, They Are Being Rehabilitated With Help

TYPICAL CASES GIVEN

Much good has been accomplished in rehabilitation of disabled civilians in North Dakota through the combined federal and state department of which Edward Erickson is in charge for the state board of administration, according to L. A. Henry of Washington, D. C., agent of the civilian vocational rehabilitation division of the federal board of vocational education, Mr. Henry said here today.

At the present time Mr. Henry, with the aid of Mr. Erickson, is engaged in selecting typical cases in North Dakota to be a part of 5,000 cases gathered by the federal board to show the progress made in rehabilitation by those aided. There are 36 states co-operating with the federal government in this work, 18,000 being in training last year, with 7,000 additional cases as rehabilitated.

Typical cases discovered in the trip in North Dakota to Grand Forks, Fargo, Wahpeton and Bismarck were reported by Mr. Henry. A Fargo man 57 years of age was disabled by paralysis below the waist, due to an abscess on the spinal chord, he said. For many years he could do nothing. Mr. Erickson, with funds provided by the federal government and state, trained him in flower-making, basket-weaving and wax work. He is now partially self-supporting, and through this training has regained some strength, so that he hopes to carry on shoe repairing, his former occupation, again at his home and make himself entirely self-supporting. He is not able to leave a wheel chair.

A German Russian 35 years old in Grand Forks, a former farm laborer, became blind 15 years ago and has been a county charge since. He was dependent because of his condition, often crying for hours at a time. Mr. Erickson sent him to Jamezville, Wisconsin, to an eight-week school for the blind, where he learned to read and write, and also to make baskets, cane chairs and wicker. His disposition changed, he became happy, and already he is partially self-supporting. The coming summer he will go back to school and learn broom and mop-making, after which he expects to become entirely self-supporting.

A McHenry county youth, his limbs rendered useless by infantile paralysis, was sent to the State School of Science at Wilmeton to learn the printing art. He has completed his first year, and is making good progress. He will return to school next year.

The most conspicuous success is Guy E. Blake, formerly of Bismarck, who suffered terrible injuries in an explosion four years ago. His sight was destroyed and he suffered other serious injuries. He was sent to the McPhail School of Expression, Minneapolis. He is now successful, and will soon go out as a Lyceum entertainer, or he may continue in school, studying voice culture and reading, and become a teacher.

North Dakota, Mr. Henry said, appropriated about $7,000 to the federal government gives $6,000 to the work. Cases of persons who have become incapacitated through injuries sustained in civil occupations come under the scope of this department.

Last year there were three million non-fatal industrial accidents in the nation, Mr. Henry said, adding that the number totally disabled from civil occupations is growing. In the

ORIGINAL IN TRIMMING

This satin suit has nothing original to offer in the way of line, but it devotes its originality to trimming. Heavy silk floss and wooden beads, the exact shade of the silk, adorn the back and also the front of the belted coat.

36 states which co-operate with the federal government, the states have appropriated $622,000 and the federal government $662,000. The average cost to rehabilitate a person, he said, is $261. Of the number rehabilitated 88 percent were men, and but five percent have more than a twelfth grade education.

AT THE MOVIES

AT THE CAPITOL
Take Carmel Myers, who is in the new Preferred Picture, "Poisoned Paradise," coming next Monday to the Capitol Theatre. She is playing the arch-adventures of Monte Carlo who earns her living at roulette, and Robert W. Service, author of the story, assures the world that with the possible exception of The Lady-Who's-Known-As-Lon, this feminine disciple of the Goddess Chance is the most dangerous woman who ever talked through the pages of a manuscript.

THE ELTINGE
The action of the picture, "The Light That Failed," which will be seen at the Eltinge Monday and Tuesday, is exceptionally fast-moving and carries the audience from London society to the dives of Port Said and the battlefields of the Sudan.

Dick Heller, an artist, wounded in the war paints the portrait of Maudie, the girl he loves and from whom he is estranged. He incurs the enmity of his model, Bessie Brooke, played by Jacqueline Logan. Bessie revenges herself by destroying the painting. Dick becomes blind as the result of his wound and is unaware of Bessie's vandalism. Bessie repents and makes amends to Maudie, thereby bringing her and Dick together. The photoplay is based on Rudyard Kipling's famous story.

CLOCHE PINS
The jeweled doublepins that have been so popular, thrust through the crown of the popular cloche, are a little less sought after now than the larger headed pins.

COOLIDGE VICTORY IN NORTH DAKOTA PRESIDENTIAL BRINGS EDITORIAL COMMENT IN MANY NEWSPAPERS

Editorial comment from some of the metropolitan newspapers on North Dakota's primary follows:

FAREWELL TO HIRAM

On the basis of incomplete returns, it seems that President Coolidge has taken the North Dakota primary, with Senator LaFollette second and Senator Hiram Johnson third. Some 82,000 votes have been accounted for, and possibly 100,000 remain outstanding. Mr. Coolidge's plurality will doubtless be reduced, perhaps substantially. It is not likely that the results of the primary will be changed. The only important development to be looked for is the introduction of Mr. LaFollette's nomination in second place.

It is a curious fact that the North Dakota primary was held on the same day as the primary in the neighboring state of Minnesota. The two states have a long history of political cooperation, and the results of the primary in North Dakota are of great interest to the people of Minnesota.

WHAT WRITERS THINK

Arthur Sears Henning, political writer, for the Chicago Tribune, in analyzing the North Dakota vote, declared it convinced Washington politicians that "the future of the country is in the hands of the people."

Mark Sullivan fails to see any effect on the Cleveland convention, holding the North and South Dakota primaries hold no such value as in former years.

David Lawrence, another writer, holds that President Coolidge's victory has had an important effect on the campaign of the third party.

The Governor of Massachusetts, in a statement, declared that North Dakota's vote was a tribute to President Coolidge and that the country is indebted to him.

IT TOOK YEARS TO GET THIS! JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER IN HIS HOME

This is one of the most unusual photographs ever taken. John D. Rockefeller, one of the world's foremost personsages, is shown in his home. This photograph was especially posed by Rockefeller for Charles Linger, who was commissioned by NEA Service and The Tribune to get it. It is taken at his home, "The Grasmere," at Ormond Beach, Fla. It is the first and only news photograph made of Rockefeller in his home.

AMONG HIS FLOWERS

First among Rockefeller's flowers is his wife. Now is flowers and plants in his garden. This is a picture of him in his greenhouse at "The Grasmere," at Ormond Beach, Fla. It is the first and only news photograph made of Rockefeller in his home.

AN INTIMATE VIEW

Having consented to have his photograph taken in his home for the first time in his life, John D. Rockefeller, one of the world's foremost personsages, is shown in his home. This photograph was especially posed by Rockefeller for Charles Linger, who was commissioned by NEA Service and The Tribune to get it. It is taken at his home, "The Grasmere," at Ormond Beach, Fla. OBEDIENCE TO CONSTITUTION IS ADVOCATED

Judge Jansonius, Addressing New Citizens, Makes Appeal For Law and Order

SPEAKS AT FESSENDEN

Judge Addresses Foreigners Whose Citizenship Applications Are Accepted

Fessenden, N. D., Mar. 22.—Judge Fred Jansonius of Bismarck, of district court, in addressing eight individuals whose citizenship applications were approved in court, urged each of them to study the constitution of the United States and to be guided in their activities by the principles laid down in that document. He said in part:

"Simply stated, the constitution is the fundamental law of our country. It is not an instrument that hampers us in our lawful activities, nor is it a barrier to our success, as some are led to believe. The founders of our constitution had but one purpose in mind, and that was to adopt a basic law that would perpetually guarantee to the citizens of the United States certain rights that liberty loving people had struggled for for centuries.

"While the government under a constitution such as ours was a new and strange form of government at the time of its adoption, the principles underlying our constitution were not new even to the ancients.

"Protection Promised
"A large part of the constitution deals with the mechanics of our government—provisions for the executive, legislative and judicial departments, and limitations upon the powers of each department. The protection promised to the people and the aims of the constitution, as stated in the preamble, are found in the first ten amendments, commonly called our 'Bill of Rights.'

"In the Bill of Rights we find a statement of conclusions reached after long experience with government—after a long period of Old World despotism from which the colonists had fled to found here a government founded upon human liberty and equal rights under the law. In this Bill of Rights are those fundamental provisions which have carried us thus far in our history, which insure us rights common as the air we breathe, and for that reason are often not realized or appreciated by the average American citizen.

"This Bill of Rights insures us the right of trial by jury; pronounces the doctrine that a man's house is his castle, and shall not be invaded except by due process of law; that we are to enjoy public assembly; that we shall have religious liberty and be permitted to worship God according to the dictates of our own conscience; that the right of private property shall remain inviolate and shall not be taken from its owner except by due process of law—in short, that while men are not born equal in point of character and capacity, they are, under our constitutional form of government, to have an equality of rights. That was, and is today a new doctrine in human government. The fundamental spirit of this constitution extends to every man, woman and child under our flag the right of equal opportunity. It has given to the people of America an opportunity for all that is best in humanity.

"Most Guard Liberties
"If, however, we are to continue to be a government of the people, it is obvious that we must understand our form of government and be fit to govern. We live in a land where laws are nothing unless sustained by public opinion. How, essential, therefore, it is that public opinion shall be educated so that wise, upright and loyal conduct of governmental affairs will result.

"Eternal vigilance is said to be the price of liberty. If the principles announced in the Declaration of Independence are violated, and the constitution undermined through disregard of individual rights, it is due to the indifference and inactive attitude of our citizens who devote all their time and thought and activities to their own private affairs and neglect active participation in self-government.

"Strong and powerful as we have become, this country can end only through reasonable amount of thought and time devoted to it by citizens who love it, and wish to have it preserved in its full force and integrity. We native Americans, and naturalized, hold the destiny of our country in our own hands—Yes, even more, the destiny of the whole world. For the world is today looking to us as the one country on the globe that can eventually bring order out of chaos."

THE NORTH DAKOTA PRIMARY

It is a curious fact that the North Dakota primary was held on the same day as the primary in the neighboring state of Minnesota. The two states have a long history of political cooperation, and the results of the primary in North Dakota are of great interest to the people of Minnesota.

Herd of Mountain Sheep Seen in Nev.

Tonopah, Nev., March 22.—A herd of 70 mountain sheep was discovered recently by F. M. Rapp, a mining engineer while prospecting in the Silver Peak range. While it was known that mountain sheep inhabited this territory it was not believed that there were so numerous.

Contrary to popular belief Rapp said they take to sheer cliffs only when danger threatens. At other times they stay on the gentler slopes of the higher mountains. Plans are being made to bring an expert hunter to Nevada next summer to exterminate the cougar, the greatest enemy of the mountain sheep.

SOLDIERS FIRED UPON

President of Irish Free State Makes Apology

Dublin, Mar. 22.—Reports of the mutiny within the Free State Army are growing louder. The latest development at Queenstown in which a detachment of British soldiers on leave was fired upon by men in Free State uniforms created a sensation in the capital and President Cosgrave immediately telegraphed a denunciation of the "cowardly crime" to the British prime minister. One British soldier was killed and 21 wounded, four so seriously that they are not expected to survive. The party of about 50 persons had just landed at Queenstown from Spike Island, the British naval base, when a motor car drove up and the four uniformed occupants opened fire with a machine gun.
